What does it mean to be human?

Who are our closest relatives?  Why do we walk on two legs?
What was the world like before history?
Where do we come from?  How are we different?  The same?

We invite you and your elementary or high school students to visit us for a hands-on introduction to a variety of anthropological topics. Choose a popular topic or request a presentation that is tailored to your curricula. For classes >50 we may be able to bring selected collections to you!
